

What Belief Lies Underneath?

Sometimes underneath a thought there is a deeper message about me or about the world.

Let's notice it gently.

1. Which thought keeps coming back to me?

Mark when or where this thought returns often.

☆ Example:

If I'm not good enough — people will leave me

2. If this thought were true — what would it say about me?

If the thought were true, what would it mean about me? Write in freedom.

Under pressure ☐

When I feel good ☐

With people ☐

At home ☐

At school ☐

Other ☐

The recurring thought: _____

3. Which deeper belief is hiding?

You can mark the message that feels familiar.

I'm not good enough

I have to succeed all the time

If I make mistakes it's terrible

I'm not allowed to disappoint

I need everyone to love me

Other

4. Where do I know this message from?

What can help me pause and think about where it came from?

Something that happened more than once ☐

Expectations from earlier ☐

Critical experiences ☐

Messages I heard ☐

I'm not sure / not safe to know ☐

This reminds me of: _____

5. A helping belief I want to strengthen

Mark a belief that supports you and moves you forward.

I'm good / also when it's hard

I'm not required to be perfect

Mistakes help me learn

It's okay to ask for help

My value does not depend on one moment

The belief I want to strengthen: _____

Thought Reminder

Beliefs are built over time — and they can also change over time. When I identify the hidden message beneath the thought, I can choose a message that helps me more.