

9.3 I Notice Triggers Gently

I am learning to notice what sometimes activates me, without blaming myself and without going into hard details.

1. What did I notice that felt hard for me?

2. What happened just before that?

3. What did my body signal to me?

4. What can help me right now?

Ideas that can help me pause and come back:

Deep breathing

Water

Calming music

A short walk

Writing

Kind self-talk

5. Who can I ask for support from?

6. What do I choose not to do right now?

A trigger is a sign that I need support,
not a sign that something is wrong with me.

