

7.1 What Distracts Me?

Identifying what takes me out of focus and what helps me return to the task.

1. In which situations is it hardest for me to focus?

2. What usually distracts me?

- Phone ☐ Thoughts ☐
Noise ☐ Tiredness ☐
People around me ☐
Other ☐

4. What helps me get back to focus?

3. How does my body feel when I'm distracted?

5. My level of focus

6. A sentence that helps me start again

Important reminder:

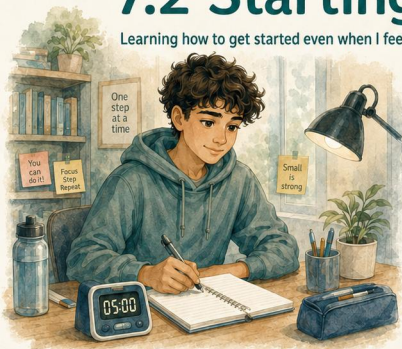

Losing focus does not mean I failed — it is just a sign that I need something that helps me come back.

7.2 Starting a Task

Learning how to get started even when I feel tired, overloaded, or unfocused.

1. What is the task I need to do? 1

2. What is the first small step? 2

3. What will help me get started? 3

Set a 5-minute timer ☐

Tidy my desk ☐

Put away my phone ☐

Ask for help ☐

Drink water ☐

Other ☐

4. When will I start? 4

5. What will I tell myself to get started? 5

6. My starting sign today: 6

I sat down in place ☐

I opened the notebook ☐

I started 5 minutes ☐

I kept going a little longer ☐

Important reminder:

I do not need to start perfectly —
I only need to start small.

7.3 Breaking a Task Into Steps

Turning one big task into a sequence of small, clear steps.

What is my big task? 1

Step 1 2

Step 2 3

Step 3 4

Who can help me if I get stuck? 5

How will I encourage myself after each step? 6

See

Break down

Start

Continue

Finish

Important reminder: ♥

When I break a task into parts — it becomes more possible.

7.4 Planning My Time

Organizing time in a realistic way, with room for breaks and getting back on track.

My three important tasks for this week

1

_____ •
_____ •
_____ •

How much time will each task take?

2

When will I do it?

3

When will I need a break?

4

What might get in the way?

5

How will I get back on track
if I'm interrupted?

6

☾ Morning

☀ Afternoon

🌇 Evening

Important reminder:

A good plan does not need to be hard — it needs to be clear and flexible.

7.5 When I Procrastinate

Understanding what stops me and choosing one small step instead of postponing.

1. What am I putting off?

2. What stops me?

Too big for me ☐

Boring ☐

I'm tired ☐

I don't know where to start ☐

I'm afraid of making mistakes ☐

Other ☐

3. What will happen if I start for just 5 minutes?

4. What is my smallest step today?

5. Who can help me remember or encourage me?

6. A sentence I choose for myself

Important reminder:

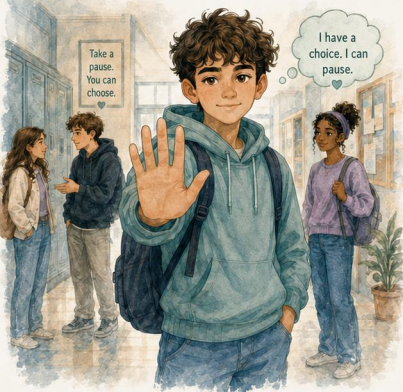

Procrastination is not laziness –
sometimes it is a sign that I need a smaller step.

7.6 Stopping Before Acting

Learning to notice an impulse, pause for a moment, and choose a wiser response.

1. What usually triggers me quickly?

2. How does my body feel a moment before?

3. What do I want to do right away?

4. What can help me pause?

Breathe  ☐

Count to 10  ☐

Drink water  ☐

Ask for a moment  ☐

Take a short walk  ☐

Talk with an adult  ☐

5. What would be a wiser response?

Short Plan: Pause – Think – Choose

Pause

Think

Choose

Important reminder:

An impulse is only a first feeling — I can choose what to do with it.

