

What Did My Mind Say?

Sometimes a thought pops up very quickly.
Let's pause, notice it, and check how it affects me.

2. Which thought popped up for me?

Mark the thought that showed up first in my mind.

I won't succeed

I'm thinking about something bad happening

I'm not okay

I'm a burden

Something is wrong with me

Other

My thought: _____

1. What happened?

Mark the place or situation where something happened that affected me.

Alone ☐

In my body or in sleep ☐

With friends ☐

On social media / phone ☐

At home ☐

Something else ☐

In a short sentence: _____

3. In what words did my mind speak to me?

Try to write the sentence or words that came into your head.

The words that came up for me:

4. How true did the thought feel?

How true did this feeling seem at that moment?

How did it affect me in that moment?

My body felt pressure ☐

I got tense ☐

I wanted to move away ☐

I became confused ☐

5. What can help me pause for a moment?

Choose what can help you pause before accepting the thought as fact.

Take a breath

Check what happened

Write the thought down

Share with someone

Take one small step

Remind myself that this is a thought

The step I choose: _____

Thought Reminder

An automatic thought is quick — not always accurate.
When I notice what my mind said to me, it becomes easier to choose a helpful next step.